

Jayne Purinton

Executive Coach

Jayne is a Professional Certified Coach (PCC) with over two decades of experience with teams and executives at the C-suite and management levels, both in-house and as an external coach and consultant. As an executive coach or organization development consultant, her expertise in team development, executive presence, communication improvement, culture development, and organizational effectiveness is an asset to clients.

Jayne has worked with publicly traded global corporations in biotech, pharma, healthcare, financial services, tech, higher education, and public service. She coaches leaders and entrepreneurs in the MIT Sloan Advanced Management Program (AMP), Babson College's WIN Lab Venture Accelerator, Mass Challenge Accelerator program, Ethical Coach, Women Leaders & Innovators Network (WILD), and Harvard University's high school program Girls With Impact.

Jayne is a guest lecturer at Mass General Hospital's Center for Faculty Development's Leadership Development Program and on the Board of Directors at the International Coach Federation (ICF) New England Chapter as the Interim VP, Volunteer Committee.

Jayne was awarded the Professional Certified Coach (PCC) credential from the ICF and Certified Executive Coach training from the Center for Executive Coaching. She is an accredited Team Coach through the Global Team Coaching Institute (GTCI) and Master Human Capital Strategist (HCS) at Human Capital Institute in Washington, D.C. She is highly engaged in programs through the NeuroLeadership Institute and World Business & Executive Coach Summit (WBECS) which draw from the business, social sciences, and neuroscience fields.

Outside of work, Jayne is focused on building bridges in metro-Boston communities and supporting broader causes such as mental health awareness, the protection of human rights, and increasing opportunities for girls and women in STEM. Jayne loves reading, cooking, playing pickleball, hiking, and engaging with family, friends, and her dog.

Did you know? Jayne is an avid Peloton rider. Her love for cycling started with a bicycle trip from Boston to New York City in 1999.
