

Michael D. Madera

Executive Coach

Michael is a seasoned executive coach with 25 years of experience in individual coaching and assessment, family business advising, facilitation, and organizational consulting.

He has experience in entrepreneurial and family business roles, managing two food products companies before seeking his psychology degree. He then served as VP of Sales & Marketing for a family-owned startup software company in the late 1990s and as Senior Consultant for a management psychology consulting firm.

Michael's clients include multinationals, family businesses, and middle-market firms. His coaching supports leaders in managing stress and taking their game to the next level. He provides insightful questions as a sounding board for various concerns. Clients comment that his deep knowledge and experience, leavened with humor, optimism, and directness, help them to develop leadership skills and support positive change in their organizations.

Michael's recent interests include transformational change modalities, including Vertical Leadership Development, Internal Family Systems Coaching, Systemic Constellations, and accessing non-ordinary states and mindfulness to accelerate awareness and growth.

Michael is the Past President of the New England Society for Applied Psychology. He has served as Faculty and Master Coach in the Executive Coaching Graduate Certificate Program at William James College and is a Society of Consulting Psychology member. He taught in the Core Faculty at the Family Firm Institute and earned the coveted Fellow designation in 2018.

He is an avid tennis player and leads a funk/dance band. He lives with his wife and two sons in the Boston area.

Did you know? Michael invented and marketed "Touché, the original Croissant Pizza" in his late 20's.
